A Brand-New Play Garden Opens in Madison Heights

Five play areas, a turf slide hill and hammocks at Red Oaks Park

Kids have a brand-new place to climb, slide and swing! On Oct. 30, Red Oaks Park in Madison Heights opened a big new play garden.

The garden has five play areas: a tall wooden playscape with slides and spinners, a music spot with swings, a turf hill with its own slide, a hide-and-seek zone, and little playhouses.

Tired climbers can rest in hammocks, and the sledding hill was fixed up just in time for snow. It's close to Birmingham!

WORD OF THE DAY

explore

verb

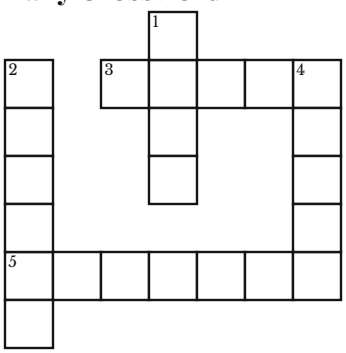

to travel around a place or look closely at it to find out what's there

"Kids can explore five play areas at the new park."

Daily Joke

Why can't you play hide-and-seek with mountains? Because they're always peaking! (Ba-dum-chh!)
