Dachshunds Get Their Own Art Show in Germany

A museum in Bremen, Germany opened what it calls the first art show all about the dachshund, the long "sausage dog." It features works by artists such as Picasso and Warhol, who both lived with dachshunds. Well-behaved small dogs may tour some galleries on Thursdays and Saturdays.

A Week of Free Fun Awaits Metro Detroit Kids

Story time, a big toy sale and a visit with Santa

Is your week looking quiet? Metro Detroit has plenty planned for kids, and a lot of it is free. Today, little ones can join preschool story time at Troy Historic Village from 10:30 to 11:30 am.

On Thursday, the Just Between Friends sale opens in Oakland County and runs through Sunday, Nov. 8: a huge children's consignment sale with toys and gear at up to 90 percent off.

Next Tuesday, Nov. 10, Gardner White brings back its free Twinkle Town holiday event with Santa at a new location. Check the store's page for details.

Tech Corner: A Shirt Sleeve That Is Also a Touchscreen

Imagine scrolling through photos on your sleeve! Engineers in Singapore wove a tiny touchscreen into a shirt sleeve. It plays video and survived 50 washes. It is only a prototype, so you cannot buy one yet.

Beavers Are Coming Back to Loch Ness

Nessie may soon have new neighbors. Beavers are set to return near Loch Ness in Scotland, about 500 years after they vanished. Their dams make ponds that help fish, frogs and birds.

Daily Joke

What did the beaver say to the tree? It was nice gnawing you!
